

Chris Doherty – Recordist/mixer/producer of many genres

Chris is a recording and mix engineer based in Sydney, Australia. He began his audio journey over 15 years ago at the world renowned Studios 301, Sydney. He left the industry to expand his knowledge and experience in leadership and management before returning to audio full time. He has had the opportunity to work across a vast array of genres and recording styles from rock bands recording straight to analogue tape to 60 piece orchestras for major film scores and everything in between. Chris presented at our 2019 Conference and kindly provided photos to use here.

Go to his website for more information
<https://chrisdoherty.com.au/>

